DEDICATION

To our fathers and their people
And all others of the name,
And those who are of this descent
And thus of blood the same;
To our brave and noble ancestors,
Heroic men of old,
Who helped carve our nation's history
And faced its dangers; bold
And true to Christian precepts;
High ideals they ne'er forsook;
To those of old and modern times
I dedicate this book.

PREFACE

Several years ago, when I first graduated from the University of Southern California, I received a letter from a strange lady in a distant city, stating that she had noticed my name and photograph in the paper and had been impressed with the coincidence that my name was Florance Loveless Keeney while hers was Florence Keeney Loveless. As a matter of courtesy only, I replied, noting that it surely was an odd coincidence since none of these names class with Smith and Jones as being exceedingly numerous. Beyond that, however, I was not at all interested.

Four years later, in 1916, I found myself "a lady of elegant leisure" in Washington, D. C., i.e. circumstances placed me there without my time being especially occupied. After touring the city and visiting every detail of the many attractions of our national capitol, "The Paris of America," I obtained admission cards to the "friends of members" galleries in the Senate and House of Representatives. Crochet work in hand, I spent many hours visiting both Houses of Congress and the Supreme Court.

About this time, a friend from my home state, New York, wrote me, sending her lineage in so far as she knew it, and requesting me to help her locate her Revolutionary ancestor, as she desired to join the local chapter of the D.A.R. Again I visited the Continental Memorial Hall, this time not as a tourist, but as a research worker in their library. This experience opened up to me a new field of worthwhile activity. I was impressed by the importance of genealogical and family history, something I had no conception of previously, and the unsurpassed facilities for such research available there and in the Library of Congress, Census and Pension Office Bureaus, etc. I resolved to make this one of the principal avocational interests of my life. This book represents a small part of the fruition of that resolve.

This record is nearly complete so far as published herein. But it attempts to cover only a small part of the material I have gathered upon the subject, and which I expect to publish at a later date. Yet by its very nature it can never be wholly complete, as it will continue to grow with the passage of the years.

I have sought to make it entirely accurate in detail; although I realize that this, too, is a well-nigh impossible achievement. It has necessitated a considerable expenditure of time and money, for which I have at no time ever dared hope that I would be compensated in a material way. In addition to the travel and research required in tracing through original records, unpublished and published, intensive study in the special libraries of genealogical subjects in Los Angeles and elsewhere, I have been called upon to fee town clerks and other custodians of documents in order to obtain copies of vitally important data in their possession, while the bill for stationery, printed forms and form letters, and postage, have been a continuous item amounting over the years to the expenditure of considerable sums.

Yet with all this investment, this book would not have been published but for the co-operation of the many contributors of individual family lines and personal data, as acknowledged in footnotes throughout this record of THE KEAYNE - KEENEY - KINNE(y) - KENNEY - KEEN and ALLIED FAMILIES. To such contributors I extend my sincere gratitude and appreciation.

—Florance Keeney Robertson.

INTRODUCTION

The Value of Genealogical Study

"In genealogical research
Two questions oft arise:—
If I could see my ancestors
And view with modern eyes
The whole big ancient tribe
Perched in the family tree,—
Would I be proud of them?
And more, would they be proud of me?"

"Long time has it been commended to us that a man should first know himself; and in the tables of his ancestors by the Grace of God, lo! there he is."—Benj. Ide Wheeler, Pres., Univ. of Calif., Berkeley, Calif.

It is pleasant and desirable to know something definite of our ancestors and, sooner or later, nearly everyone has the wish to do so. For membership in Patriotic Societies careful investigation is necessary, as family legends and unverified reports are often misleading. It is to provide a solid foundation for further study of the ancestry and progeny of the Keayne, Keeney, Kinney, Kenney, and Keen family that this book is made, for it has been aptly said that it is vision without intelligence that sees only a present and takes no cognizance of its being a part of a past and a future.

But unfortunately Americans have been neglecting to keep their family records. Fathers and mothers who toil for years to aid their children to get an education or a start in the business world are all too soon forgotten. The Good Book tells us to honor our parents. There is no better way in which we can do this than by perpetuating their memories. The home and the family are deserving of every honor which can be bestowed upon them.

That early statesman and orator, Daniel Webster, admonished, "It is wise for us to recurr to the history of our ancestors. Those who do not look upon themselves as a link connecting the past with the future, do not perform their duty to the world."

Again, Edward Everett said, "Let us gather up the traditions which still exist; let us show the world that if we are not called to follow the example of our fathers, we are at least not insensible to the worth of their characters; not indifferent to the sacrifices and trials, by which they purchased our prosperity."

One of the great functions of genealogical study is to make us more conscious of the essential unity of the great human family. It also arouses interest in colonial history and national antiquities, with a consequent broadening of the students cultural attainment.

Personally, I realize that the ones who failed to answer my impassioned pleas for information, will be the first to criticise this book because their line is omitted. And if an overlooked typographical error records one of the prominent descendants as marrying the mother of his child a few months or so after the child's recorded date of birth, I beseech the tolerance of my friends who may have occasion to pay a few premature florists' bills. But I will take comfort in the saying of Poor Richard, "He that can compose himself is wiser than he who composes a book."

—Florance Keeney Robertson.

CAPTAIN ROBERT KEAYNE

Born in Windsor, England, 1595. Member of the Honourable Artillery Company of London, 1623.

Devoted citizen of Boston from 1635 to death, 1656. Liberal contributor for a town library, for the maintenance of a free schoolmaster, for introducing pure water to Boston, and for the foundation of Harvard College.

Founder of the first town house located where Old State House now stands.

Founder and first commander, 1638, of the oldest military organization in America, the Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, by whom this tablet is erected to mark the site of his house.

Inscription which appears on a tablet at the corner of the building which stands in State Street, Boston, opposite the Old State House and at the junction of State and Washington Streets.

Keayne or Kane Coat of Arms carried by Capt. Robert Keayne, citizen of London, England, and Boston, Massachusetts, in 1635; his son, Major Benjamin Keayne (Keaine); and which reverted to the descendants of the brothers of Capt. Robert when this family presumably became extinct. (See p. 4.)

I

The Family of Captain Robert Keayne of Boston.

Capt. Robert Keayne, (Keaine), (Keayenes), (Karney), (Keene), (Keyne), (Keanie), (Keine), (Keajne), (Keane), (Kayne), (Caine), (Cayne), (See Our Family Name.) as the name is variously spelled in the early records of Boston, was born in Co. Suffolk, Eng., in about 1595, since records of 1635 designate him as age 40. He was a merchant and a member of the Merchant Taylor Company of London; a well-to-do English citizen and a friend in a general way of the Pilgrims. He accompanied Gov. Winthrop to Boston, Mass. in 1635 in the "Defiance". The certified list of passengers names him as age 40, his wife as age 38, and son Benjamin age 16. But later records show that Benjamin's age was rated as two or more years too low. His name also appears in The Mayflower Log. His house was located at what is now the corner of Washington and State Streets, Boston; next to the house of Gov. Winthrop, the frame of which was brought from England. He became freeman May 25-1636; Representative in Colonial Assembly, 1630 and 1639. On Dec. 18th. 1637 he received a land allotment on Rumsey Marsh and Pullins Point. His name appears frequently in the records up to the time of his death in 1656, as he was prominent in the Mass. Bay Colony.

He was the founder and first commander of "The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co., of Boston" in 1638, the oldest military organization in the U. S. It became an element of great influence and was made up of picked men. It was a training school and authority on military service. A note book kept by Robert Keayne was published in 1889 by Samuel Abbott Green, M.D., of Cambridge, Mass. The Keayne armory as shown on a seal used by Capt. Robt. in signing papers and as later modified by his son Benjamin is shown herein.

He had married in England, Anne Mansfield. She was b. abt. 1597, sister of Elizabeth Mansfield who married Rev. John Wilson, and dau. of John Mansfield Esq. of Stoke in Co. Suffolk, Eng. She is referred to in Boston records as "Mrs. Anna Keayne Sr." She and her gr. child, Anna Keayne, each received a grant of 500 acres of land in 1659. She m. (2) Oct. 16-1660, at Boston, Samuel Cole (Coles).

Capt. Robt. Keayne d. Mar. 23-1656 in Boston. He left a large estate and a very remarkable will of over 200 pages, "all of it written with my own hand" and begun Aug. 1st, 1653, and extended for some years. He mentions therein his "wife, Anna Keayne,"—only son, Benjamin Keayne,—"Hannah Keayne, my son Benj. Keayne's dau. and my gr. ch.",—"my brother Wilson" (obviously brother-in-law) and "Mr. Norton, Elder at Boston, to have books after choice thereof by my wife and son",—"my own sister Grace Jupe, her three children of whom I have yet the care, i.e. Anthony Jupe,—Mary Jupe now Mary Mosse of Boston,—Benjamin Jupe that now lives in my house." (Boston vital records show that Mary Jupe and John Mosse were married 10th mo. 25-1652 and that they had a dau. Mary Mosse, b. Apr. 20-1654.) In another place in his will he refers to Benjamin Jupe as a cripple who had been provided for in the will of his uncle Nicholas Jupe of London, who left Benjamin tennents and other property there. Other heirs were "children of wife's brother, John Mansfield,"—"wife of brother John Keayne who did live in Classon, not far from London, Eng. and my brother John Keayne's children," (presumably the same John Keayne whose wife Martha with six children, or more probably grandchildren, came to New England on Ship "Confidence" in 1638.)—"my cousin John Wilson, preacher at Medfield and his sister Mary Wilson, now Mrs. Davenport of Roxbury, and my pore kindred."

He left a legacy to the city of Boston to be used in the building of a Town House. The amount bequeathed by him was more than doubled by popular subscription. The inventory of his estate is dated Apr. 23-1656. (See Our Family Origins.)

Major Benjamin Keayne, (Keaine), etc., only son of Capt. Robert, above, was born near London, Eng. before 1620. In 1636 he was a member of the Artillery Co., founded by his father. He resided for a short time at Lynn, Mass.; Admitted freeman Sept. 6-1639; Major in Boston Militia; went to Eng. about 1645, where he repudiated his wife. Apr. 4-1639, he and wife with others had organized a church. She was Sarah Dudley whom he had m. abt. 1639. She bapt. in Eng. July 23-1620, 5th ch. of Gov. Thos. Dudley of Boston, who alludes to this marriage in his will as "an unhappy and uncomfortable match." In Nov. 1646 she was disciplined for "irregular prophecy," excommunicated and "sadly disgraced," Oct. 1647. She m. (2) Thomas Pacy. Her will signed Sarah Pacy, was dated Sept. 26-1658. She d. Nov. 3-1659. Their only child was Anna or Hannah Keayne. She was well provided for in the will of her grand-father, Capt. Robert Keayne, who stipulated that her mother, "Sarah Dudley, now Pacy, was to have no part in the property" thus given to her daughter. She m. (1) Oct. 11-1657, at Boston, by Gov. John Endicott, Edward Lane, merchant of Boston and London, Eng. She m. (2) Capt. Nicholas Page who came from Plymouth, Devonshire, Eng. in 1665. He was a colonel of artillery in 1693,—King Philip's War. He d. 1717. No children. But there was an Edward Page, b. Feb. 20-1662 who by some is supposed to have been the son of Anna and her first husband, Edward Lane, his name having been changed to Page upon her second marriage. Capt. Page was prominent in both civil and military affairs.

Anna is spoken of as grand-daughter and sole heiress of Capt. Robt. Keayne, merchant of Boston and adventured in the Mayflower,—and niece of Governor Joseph Dudley. As Ann Lane, she was granted land near the Cole farm, Melford, New Hampshire. She d. June 30-1704 when the family of Capt. Robert Keayne presumably became extinct and the insegnia (coat of arms) borne by him and his son reverted to the descendants of his brothers. Capt. Ezra Kinne (Kinney) of Preston, Conn.

Capt. Ezra Kinne (Kinney) of Preston, Conn. b. Sept. 20-1727, Preston, Conn., bp. same d. as birth and again at Preston Ch. on Nov. 26-1727. d. 2-8-1795, Preston. (See his ancestry p. 56.) His will signed 2-22-1794 and prob. 2-16-1795, Norwich, Conn., names sons Peabody, Ezra and Dennison, son-in-law Allen Campbell,—daus. Joanna, Mary, Jemima, Sarah, Cynthia, and Lucretia. m. (1) int. 10-24-1748, m. 10-26-1748, Preston, Sarah Denison. (See her ancestry p. 58.) m. (2) 6-5-1792, Preston, Mrs. Martha Putman.

He served in both the Colonial and Rev. wars; was a Serg. in one of the companies that responded to the Lexington Alarm; afterward he became Capt. of the 8th regm. for State defense, Continental line from Conn. serving 165 days in 1780 and member of the General Assembly. He was a slave owner,—lived in Voluntown, Conn., from whence son Peabody emigrated to Vermont.

Children:—(10 or 11)—b. Preston, Conn.

+Joanna, b. June 25-1749, m. 10-10-1765, Asa Witter.

+Lucretia, b. 5-13-1770, m. 12-14-1786, Noah Mason.
+Ezra, b. 2-18-1773, m. Lucinda Elizabeth Coats.

*At present, we find in Preston Vit. Rec. only the record of birth of one of these ch., i.e., Mary B., b. July 17-1751. But one family record definitely traces back to Mary or Molly Kinne, b. abt. 1750 as d. 8-11-1814, bur. 8-14-1814, ae 61 y. at Canaan, Conn. (grave stone rec.), dau. Capt. Ezra. She m. 1769 at Plainfield, Conn., Marvin Rood, Jr. Another family traces back with equal surety to Mercy Kinne, b. July 12-1751, dau. Capt. Ezra and Sarah, d. 10-21-1844, Brookfield, N. Y., m. (1) 9-3-1767, Stonington, Conn., Capt. Oliver Babcock. This Mercy m. (2) 4-25-1778, Stonington, Nathan Brown. They removed to Central New York State where a town was called Brownsville after them. Hence it would appear there must have been 2 ch., twins, b. to Ezra and Sarah. Still another tradition states that Mary m. 1-26-1786, Plainfield, Lemuel Warren. But if Marvin Rood, Jr., d. 1-24-1832, as reported, this must have been an entirely different Mary Kinne. We hope to clear this matter up in a later volume of Kinne Genealogy.

Feb. 11-1824, ae 70y, East Poultney, Vt., dau. of Wm. and Elizabeth (Campbell) Crary, of Voluntown, Conn. (See her ancestry p. 97.)]

In 1779 he removed from Voluntown, Conn., to Wallingford, Vt., with his wife and one child. His household goods were taken by oxen while a horse carried his wife and baby on a feather-bed. This was six years after the original settlement of the town. They finally settled upon what was for years known as the Kinney Farm, between East and West Poultney, Vt. He served in the Revolution as a private in Co. 2, Capt. John Taylor; enlisted May 1-1775. His Company belonged to the 6th. Conn. Regiment which was raised by Col. Samuel Parsons in response to the first call for troops. In 1812, with his son Levi and other Vermont men, he hurried to Plattsburg, but the battle was over before they arrived. He also enlisted Aug. 4-1780, and was discharged Aug. 18-1780, serving 15 days under Capt. John Spafford, Col. Ebenezer Allen,—and again enlisted Oct. 4-1780 to Oct. 31-1780 under Capt. Ab Ives, Col. Allen, Vermont Regiment of Militia.

Lake Arms pictured in color—frontispiece of A Genealogy of the Lake Family, by Adams & Risley, pub. 1915.

*"The descent of John Lake, husband of Margaret Reade, as from the Lakes of Normanton has long been accepted as correct, but is erroneous according to Mr. Walter G. Davis, eminent genealogist of Portland, Me. He states that because John and another son of Launcelot Lake came to New England, it was assumed this John m. Margaret Reade. In the early part of the 16th century a prosperous yeoman family named Lake lived in Rawreth, Essex Co., Eng. There were four brothers,—John, Richard, Robert and William, and 3 sisters named Porter, Brooman and Cranknell. The parents of the family have not been identified. These brothers were all large land owners. John, one of the brothers above, b. 1565, d. Dec. 12-1612, bur. N. Benfleet. m. 1589, Elizabeth Sandall of Little Barnstable, Basildon, Eng. Their children, all baptized at North Benfleet, were (1) John, bpt. Sept. 26-1590; (2) Elizabeth, bpt. Dec. 12-1591, m. 1st. Paschall and 2nd. Breadcake; (3) Sybel, bp. Feb. 11-1592/3, m. Andrew Benton; (4) Richard, bp. Nov. 18-1594; (5) Tomasine, bp. Oct. 14-1596; (6) Margaret, bp. Mar. 12-1597/8; (7) Thomas, bp. Oct. 21-1600; (8) Anna, bp. Feb. 12-1604/5.

In will of John Lake he made many bequests of lands and houses; he gave son John Fenton Hall,—also an estate called Basildon went to John and his mother. John Lake, bp. Sept. 26-1590, d. 1661, m. 1616, Margaret Reade, dau. Edmund Reade. Their children, bpt. at Wickford, were (1) John, bpt. July 6-1617; (2) Thomas, bp. Jan. 16-1618/9; (3) Richard, bp. May 24-1620. Those bp. at N. Benfleet were (4) Hannah, bp. July 3-1621, m. Capt. John Gallop; (5) Elizabeth, bp. Jan. 5-1623, d. young; (6) Martha, bp. July 20-1624, m. Thomas Harris; (7) Samuel, bp. Mar. 29-1628/9, d. young; (8) Elizabeth, bp. Feb. 1630/1, d. young.

This John Lake lived with his father-in-law in Wickford until abt. 1621, after that date at Fenton Hall. He was legatee under the will of his uncle, Thomas Sandall, Oct. 1593; was executor of his father's will and overseer of his mother's will; inherited other property, some of which he had sold by 1636. He was in Holland with the Pilgrims but did not emigrate to New England. His wife, Margarete, left her husband in London, and taking her two daughters, joined her sisters Martha and Elizabeth Winthrop, who with their husbands and families came to Boston between 1631 and 1635. In 1654, her step-father, Rev. Hugh Peters, wrote to her from London, " Juhn Lake is alive and lusty." In 1657 he wrote,

"John Lake still lives." On Jan. 18-1661/2, Margaret wrote to her brother-in-law, John Winthrope, then in London, asking he inquire about her husband's death, how he ended his days and whether there was anything left for her."—Boston Transcript. We see no reason to doubt the original records but quote this as illustrative of the confusions which make genealogical research difficult.—F. K. R., compiler.

Southern Keene's

We are making no attempt to follow out this Southern Keene line in America because it has been so adequately done by Mr. Elias Jones in his Keene Family History and Genealogy, copyright as recently as 1923. This book traces the origin of the name to a nick-name from the adjective keen, and carries it through nine different spellings. (See Our Family Name.) It locates the family in Norfolk, Suffolk, and Somersetshire, England, thus identifying them with those of whom we write herein, (see Our Family Origins) and gives arms and crests of these branches:

Kene of Norfolk and Suffolk: Arms—a talbot sa. charged on his sinister shoulder with a trefoil, slipped, or on a chief indented azure 3 cross crosslets of the 3rd. Crest—A hinds head erased argent pellette charged with a trefoil or.

Kene (Starston, Co. Norfolk): Arms—a talbot pass. sa. gared and collared or; to the collar a ring of the second, or a chief indented azure; three crosses crosslet of the 3rd. Crest: A hinds head erased argent pellettee charged with a trefoil or.

Kene of Ipswich, Co. Suffolk: Arms—Azure, a talbot pass. or. and a chief argent, 3 crossiet sa. Crest: A hinds head or pellettee.

Kenn of Lingford, Co. Somersetshire: Arms—3 crescents gules. Crest: Crescents 3 interwoven.

Kenne and KEnne of Somersetshire: Arms—3 crescents gules. Crest: A unicorns head azure bezantee.

Kein of Hetheby, Scotland,—the same.

Kein of North Cove and Thandeston, Co. Suffolk: Arms—Azure a talbot, passant, or on a chief indented azure. 3 crosses floryas. Crest: A hind's head, erased sa. bezantee (granted by Harvey-Clemencreux, May 3, 1562.)

Kene: Em. a cross flory-sa.

From which it is evident that this family was very closely related to Sir Thomas Kinne of Norfolk, Eng.; the East Anglian family of Suffolk, from which sprang John Keen (Keaune) of Duxbury, and Capt. Robt. Keayne of Boston; Sir Thomas Kinney of New Jersey; Wm. Keny of New London, Conn.; Alexander Keene of Weathersfield, Conn.; and others of the early American pioneers. Hence it would appear that all are descendants of the line of Kenne Court in Somersetshire, Eng. (See Our Family Origins.)

This genealogy includes the record of Charles Edmund Ruck Keene of Swyncombe House (Burke—Landed Gentry of Great Britain—1930) Co. Oxford, Capt. of Infantry in 1861, whose remote ancestor was Benjamin Keene (1631-1709.) (p. 1012, Burke, Landed Gentry of Great Britain, 1925.) Also Edmund Keene, D.D., of Durham in 1740 (1714-1781), Bishop of Chester and Ely and brother of Sir Benj. Keene (b. 1697 at Kings Lynn, Norfolk, Eng. d. 1759), son of Charles and Susan (Rolfe) Keene who was diplomatist and minister plenipotentiary to Madrid. (See Vol. 10, p. 1189, Dictionary of National Biog.) It also refers to Henry George Keene (b. 1787, d. 1864), Persian Scholar. (See Burke, Peerage and Baronetage, p. 1352—1930 edition), wherein he is carried back to Sir John Keene (b. 1757), son of Richard Keene. (p. 338, 1828 edition of same book.)

This book traces the royal ancestry of these Southern Keenes to Edmund Plantagenet, Earl of Kent, son of Henry III of Eng. It begins in America with Henry Keene of Worplesdon, Surrey, Eng., who m. Nov. 10-

1623, there to Anna Halle of that place, and gives their children as follows:

Henry, bp. Sept. 12-1624.

Calipe, bp. May 21-1626.

George, bp. Nov. 19-1627.

Richard, bp. Dec. 17-1628, m. Mary, wid. of John Hodgkin.

Edward, bp. June 10-1629/30.

Anne, bp. Sept. 2-1632.

Wm. bp. Feb. 1-1634/5.

Wm., again, bp. June 1-1636.

Of these, Henry, Richard and Edward came to the Province of Maryland in 1653 and their descendants are traced throughout the states of Virginia, Maryland and other Southern States.

Nor have I included the following, but will give references to their published biographies:

James Robert Keene (1838-1913), p. 283, Vol. X—Dictionary of American Biography.

Laura Keene (1826-1873), p. 283, Vol. X, Dictionary of American Biography.

Thomas Wallace Keene (b. 10-26-1840, d. 6-1-1898), p. 281, Vol. X, Dictionary of American Biography.

Andrew Kean—same as above.

John James Keene, p. 267, Vol. X, Dictionary of American Biography.

John Joseph Keene, p. 26, Vol. X, Dictionary of American Biography.

It gives to this branch of the family the following arms, and pictorially illustrates them on the frontispiece. Arms: Ermine, 3 crescents gules. Crest: A griffin's head proper. Motto: Dues Mihi Providebit.

John Coney of Early Boston

Because of the confusion of spellings (See Our Family Name) considerable data was collected during our years of research on the family and descendants of John Coney (b. July 17-1628, Boston, Lincolnshire, Eng., d. Dec. 24-1690, Boston, Mass.), who m. June 20-1654, Elizabet Nash, as being supposedly a closely allied line. Many cases of bona fide Keeney's, Kinney's, Keen's, etc., appear in the records as Coney, Cone, etc. But our later research showed these to be merely errors in spelling and John Coney of presumably an entirely different family. And our research was substantiated in 1928 when Ancestors and Descendants of John Coney of Boston was published by Mary Lovering Holman, having been compiled by Harriet Grace Scott of Brookline, Mass. This excellent genealogy of 319 pp. gives a very complete and comprehensive survey of the Coney family.

Florance Keeney Robertson.

"I for my part, venerate the inventor of indexes, and I know not to whom to yield the preference, either to Hippocrates, who was the first great anatomizer of the human body, or to that unknown librarian who laid open the nerves and arteries of a book." — Isaac de Israel.

CHIEF LIBRARIAN
NOV 8 1943
REFERENCE DIVISION

Will you please inform me if Mrs. Robertson, who has recently published a book on the Keene Family, has made any corrections in her George Washington Keene line? I understand that your department has bought a copy of the book.

This George W. Keene line belongs to Josiah Keen & Hannah Dingley, a second wife, through John Keen & Rebecca Baker. This line is known to genealogists as the John Keene line through his son, Isaac, b. 1696, and his wife Abigail Booth. In the Pembroke Quaker records which are left in the vault of the Moses Brown School, Providence, R. I., all descendants are carefully recorded as Isaac 1696, and wife Abigail, to distinguish him from his half cousin, Isaac Keen, b. 1700, brother to Hezekiah Keen.

Isaac Keen, 1696, had son, Isaac, b. 1737, m. Anna King. George W. Keene is a desc. of this line of Isaac & Anna through son Josiah b. 1781, m. Avis Swift.

Isaac, b. 1700, also had a son Isaac b. 1736, given in Pembroke V.R., who m. Bethiah Tobey b. 1739. I am a descendant of this line, and I am quite concerned as to whether Mrs. Robertson has made the promised corrections.

Yours very truly,

Isaac Keene Tracy

(Mrs Orville M. Tracy)
